Blake on the Situtation. Mr Edward Blake, a prominent member of the Ontario Opposition in the Candian House of Commons, has been addressing his constitutents at Bowmanville, West Durham. In the course of a four column talk, Mr Blake took occasion to enlighten the Durhamites upon the Pacific Province. He told them that the 'population of British Columbia was about eleven thousand, which was diminishing (which was not true), and fifty thousand Choctwas (which was not true) who were not represented anywhere. He told them that about $250,000 a year would fall upon the rest of the Dominion for the maintenance of British Columbia, a statement that is neither true nor honest Then,' he continued, 'Canada has not only to give her land, but to buy their land in order to build the Pacific Railroad, which was a monstrous pro-posal. We confess that we cannot see the monstrosity of the proposition. have a very distinct recollection that Canada proposed to take over the waste lands of Newfoundland and pay one lands of Newfoundland and pay one hundred and fifty thousand dollars a year therefore; yet neither Mr Blake nor the Globe discove i anything monerous in it. Bratish Columbia relinquishes lands of greater value for one-third loss murry. Mr Blake talks about the Canadiau Pacific Railway as if i. were to be construc. I for and to be the sole property of British Columbia. This is both stupid and disingenuous As was very well explained by the Hon Peter Mitchell, the road will be some two thousand five hundred miles long, and only six hundred miles of it will b in British Columbia. The one thousand nine hundred miles of it east of the Rocky Mountains would have to be built by Canada wholly irrespective of British Columbia, and the whole line from sea to sea has, over and over again, been admitted by the Globe and its party to be a national political and commercial necessity. The whole question, therefore, resolves itself into one of time. Is ten years too short a period in which to build the Canadian Pacific Railman ? To the acific Railway? It is an unquestioned and most argent necessity-the very foundation of British empire on this continent, and must be built quickly, is To heritate or loiter is to practically abandon the glorious scheme of empire which has been undertaken; and we cannot but think that if Mr Blake occupied a seat on the treasury benches, instead of shivering in the cold shades of the Opposition, he would soon discover the urgency of the work. He next informs his constituents that Sir George E Cartier estimated the cost of the railway at one hundred and fifty millions, but his own opinion was that it would iar exceed that. If we are to credit the published reports, Sir George never estimated anything of the sort; and if Mr Blake's opinion is it will cost a great deal more than that, we have only to say that his opinion cannot be worth much. Me Blake went on to say :- 'No man was bold enough to assert that British Columbia demanded such exorbitant terms, and there was no proof that the proposition for building a rathroad had come from that Province. The Hon Mo Trutch, the British Columbia Commissioner, had said at the dinner given bim in Ottawa that Canada might have asked twenty years to construct a railroad, instead of binding herself to build it as a more limited period. The reporter does not inform us whether Mr. Blake's was an after-dioper speech; but the above extract would lead us to conclude that such was the case. British Columbia not only 'demanded' the railway as a condition of union, but-deliberately clared through ner Legislature that no real union could subsist without it, and Mr Blake exhibited an amazing amount of unfamiliarity with facts or else a shocking carelessness in dealing with them when he uttered the above words -tacts which no after-dinner remarks

The functions of both in the research has long been leader of the lashious and Fance the emperium of fashious ble fabries. The functions of both, in this respect, have been greatly paralysed by the late terrible war, and the revolution which followed continues to interrupt the respectation of these functions. The consequence is at all French manufactures, especially silk goods, have experienced a very decided powerd tendency and are still rising. It is, no ever, a fortunate circumstance or this community that Messrs J P Tuestall & Co. of Le doc, happened to make a regular large purchase just in time to escape t. 3 g sat rise. These goods are from the collistic of frietry of the best makers in France (C J Bonnet & Cie, of Lyons) and the ladies of Victoria will be pleased to know that a very rich assortment from that large purchase was received at the London House by the last steamer, and that the patrons of J H Turner & Coare to get the full benefit of the favorable circumstances under which these goods were bought.
